

Ruth Anibea Badoo:

Ruth is a young IT professional who has worked over the past 8 years in various IT roles including hardware/software, internet engineering, and network & mail server administration. Ruth has also worked on consultancy projects including Company registrations for tendering, marketing strategy, IT strategy and IT service delivery. Ruth holds a BSc. in Computer Science from University of Science and Technology and an MSc. In Information Technology Management & Organizational Change from Lancaster University

CV:

Ruth is a young enterprising IT professional who has 8 years experience in the Information Technology industry.

Career History:

August 2008: Worked on a marketing strategy for Stanian Limited

May – July 2008: Worked as a team lead on an IT Service Delivery project for Lancaster University Corporate information Systems department

April – June 2008: Ruth worked as a consultant on the development and implementation of IT strategy for Salvation Army Bridge project, based in Blackpool, UK.

January – April 2008: Worked as a Business consultant for Stanian Limited UK. Was involved in a tendering project on exploring, developing requirements and registration of Stanian Limited to trade in United States of America

September 2003 – August 2007: Worked as a Systems Administrator with Money Systems International, a global remittance company

January 2000 – December 2003: Worked as an internet engineer with a leading internet service provider in Ghana, west-Africa

Professional Qualifications:

BSc. Computer Science from University of Science and Technology, Ghana

MSc. Information Technology Management and Organizational Change from Lancaster University, UK

Industry Accreditations

2008: Information Technology Infrastructure Library (ITIL), Foundation Certificate, UK

2004: Managerial and entrepreneurial skills certificate, EMPRETEC Ghana Foundation